I teach 5th grade writing (and only writing-our students rotate and another teacher teaches reading) and started halfway through the school year. We just got a new writing "program" called SRSD for informational writing, and I really like it, but it's more of a method of writing than a paced program, so this is really helpful for determining how much time to spend on each part. I have ...

As we read each of our mentor texts, our class creates an Anchor Chart. On the chart, we include what we could learn from the author/what the author did really well, as well as, how the story made us feel. I chose "feelings" for narrative writing because I wanted students to know that narratives don't always have to be exciting and upbeat ...

Sample Personal Narrative Keep an Eye on the Sky! I was in gym class when my teacher suggested we go outside and play softball. As we made our way out to the field, my stomach slowly turned into a giant knot of fear. Softball is just not my game. I have a knack for always getting hit in the head by the ball. It doesn't matter where I'm standing. The ball just seems to find me. My teammates ...
