Four Corners is used to gather data in a quick, visual way that is engaging to students. Students respond to a multiple choice question by moving to one of the four possible answers that are posted in four different corners of the classroom. How to Use the Strategy: Teacher identifies the kind of data he/she wishes to gather. For example, create a statement in which the students can answer ...

Four Corners. This technique stimulates student learning through movement and discussion, and it can also be used as a formative assessment. Students are presented with a controversial statement or are asked a question. In each of the four corners of the classroom, an opinion or response is posted. Students express their opinion or response by standing in front of one of four statements, and then talking to others about why they have chosen their corner. Four Corners promotes listening ...
